

Putting print in its rightful place

Get value from your document printing, not costs.

Printing is a necessity for most people in most companies. But it's also a stress.

The nearest printer isn't always working

Long wait times if there's a queue of large documents

Worry about wastage with forgotten printing

Risk of not getting to confidential printing in time

So if you can fix the issues, your business and your people will thank you.

In fact, 79% of office workers say printing makes them more productive.¹

But printing has to be secure – 60% of businesses have suffered a print-related data breach.²
