Outbound and Inbound Package Management

SendSuite® Tracking Online

Discover a new level of efficiency.

Lost or delayed documents can lose a case—and leave you open to suits.

Contracts, client matter files, discovery documents, and court filings are time sensitive; and they require strict confidentiality. This type of mail may change hands a number of times, including:

- From mailroom or reception, to administrative staff and legal secretaries
- From one internal department to another
- From the home office to the satellite location where it's needed, and between lawyers

At every point, there's the risk of a delivery lag or the loss of an item, and the possibility the firm may be liable for it.

Failure to meet milestones creates an exposure.

Legal processes have clearly defined timelines with date and time-based milestones. The lack of accurate package details, such as date, time and an audit trail throughout the firm, may present liabilities.

Inefficiencies hurt revenue.

Manually logging in mail is labour intensive, which slows the delivery process and can cause delays. What's more, time spent by legal assistants searching for a needed package cuts into their productivity and hampers lawyers and legal secretaries from meeting milestones.

SendSuite® Tracking Online (SSTO) increases efficiency by automating the receiving process.

Eliminate the need to manually write package details into a log book or type the information into a spreadsheet. SSTO scans the package tracking barcode to capture information, which speeds up the receiving process and helps prevent errors.

With legal firms, cost containment matters.

- Consider that the average annual salary of a legal secretary in London is around £33,000.
- If 20 documents or packages are received each day, the time processing mail may amount to as much as £8K/year of overhead expenses for one employee.

SSTO immediately emails recipients of mail arrival to reduce downtime.

Office staff productivity is improved by stopping inquiries about whether important mail has arrived. In addition, SSTO notifications accelerate getting critical documents into the hands of waiting lawyers and legal secretaries, allowing them to continue working without downtime.

Inbound tracking reduces the possibility of loss.

By detailing chain of custody, you'll be able to see who's had the item, when and where. In addition, you can electronically document signatures for proof of delivery.

Generate and attach a barcode to any item with the SSTO asset tracking feature.

This lets you trace client matter files as they're forwarded throughout the office. You can see where a file is, and where it has been.

SSTO is a cloud-based solution that doesn't need IT set-up or maintenance.

It is installed and maintained by Pitney Bowes in a secure cloud, so it can be accessed from any office computer. Just register, sign in and you're up and running. On each new version release, updates will occur automatically, so you always have the latest software.

To track an important asset, just attach a barcode to an item and scan it. Details are then automatically entered into the system.

SSTO is flexible, to fit different firms' needs and budgets. There are a number of subscription levels, ensuring a solution that's ideal for your tracking requirements.
