

Re-imagining the office for today's hybrid workforce

90% of companies are transitioning to a "hybrid" workforce that combines on-site and remote employees. To make workers feel at ease, employers are making workplaces safer, more flexible and more innovative.

Employees want the best of both worlds.

87% say the office is important for collaborating and building relationships.¹

48% want the flexibility to work remotely during some of the work week.²

Health-related protections returning employees expect include:³

71%
Free hand sanitizer

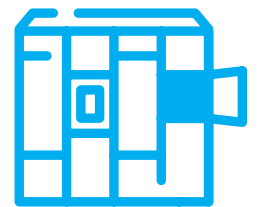

59%
Socially distanced workplace

47%
Temperature checks

28%
Contactless technology

How businesses are preparing.

86%
plan to make changes for workplace health and safety.⁴

55%
have modified physical workspaces.⁵

61%
plan to invest in smart locker technology.⁶

Contactless delivery with smart lockers improves safety and efficiency.

ParcelPoint™ Smart Lockers from Pitney Bowes are the ideal contactless delivery solution for today's hybrid workforce. To learn more, visit pitneybowes.com/us/lockers

¹ PwC's US Remote Work Survey – January 12, 2021

² Return to Workplace Report, Envoy

³ Eden Workplace Survey (by Wakefield Research), Feb 2021

⁴ EY – How employers and employees are envisioning the reimagined workplace, April 2021

⁵ PwC, Emerging stronger from COVID-19: What US business leaders need to know

⁶ Pitney Bowes Market Intelligence USA Enterprise Quick Pulse Survey